PIONEERS END 26TH
REUNION CELEBRATION

"The Bridge of the Gods" a pageant put on at Weston as a feature of Friday and Saturday's 26th annual reunion of Umatilla county pioneers, was considered so good that a suggestion has been made that it be an annual event, and that it be given in Pendleton at some future date. The pageant was given in the terraced school ground lawn Friday night, and is said to have been very beautiful.

Election of officers Saturday closed the two-day celebration, which was participated in by scores of pioneers and their families. The program for both days, which included music, address, races, ball games, an a free band concert with the great solar eclipse as a "special attraction," was a big success in every way.

Henry J. Taylor of Pendleton will be president of the association during the coming year. Y. L. Frazier of Milton is vice president; S. A. Barnes of Weston secretary, and J. H. Price of Weston treasurer.

Have to Tell You.

Alta Theater Tuesday and Wednesday: Startling Features of "The Spy."

The secrets of the German spy system are revealed in the startling new William Fox production, "The Spy," with Dustin Farnum in the stellar role. That is the big feature for YOU, the exhibitor, to play up. Take advantage of a good picture which combines all the thrill and excitement of war, diplomatic secrets, internal politics. In "The Spy" these are some of the outstanding points:

1. A rousing meeting of the Patriots' Club of New York.
2. Attempts of a German spy, on shipboard, to murder a member of the American Diplomatic Service.
3. Revelation of the Wilhelmstrasse—the most complete system of espionage that has ever existed.
4. Ball at the American embassy in Berlin, at which intrigue is carried on under the guise of social entertainment.
5. An American's successful attempt to gain possession of a list of German spies in the United States.
6. A German girl's sacrifice for the man she loves and the country of her adoption, the United States!

DUNCAN AND HOLT STAGE
REAL FIGHT BEFORE CAMERA
The fiercest, most realistic man-to-man fight ever screened is seen in the seventh episode of "Vengeance—and the Woman." Greater Vitagraph's wonderful melodrama serial, which will be seen in the Pastime Theatre today. William Duncan (Henry Blake), all around athlete, measures his strength and skill against George Holt, cow puncher. Holt is Black Jack's outlaw leader, who has caught Carol Holloway (Hessie Blake) in the mountains and they fight for her possession. "No quarter, just go to it," said Duncan, as the men got before the camera, and Holt took Director Duncan at his word. Every blow was intended as a knockout and every trick known to rough and tumble fighters was employed as the two powerful men struggled for supremacy, until sheer exhaustion ended the fight with the girl safe for the moment in the hands of her husband. That fight was all the two men did that day and they bore bruises for days afterwards.

Arcade Today

The man of many thrills and laughter, George Walsh, the William Fox athletic thunderbolt, will be here today in a photoplay called "Brave and Bold." Manager Sullivan of the Arcade theatre promises Mr. Walsh will surpass anything he has ever done. No doubt he will fulfill this promise because George Walsh never does anything by halves. That is the reason he is so big a favorite everywhere.

Walsh has a story that gives him plenty of chance to exhibit his athletic ability. As Robert Booth associated with the Wilson Company he is trying to close a deal with a European prince. This will net his firm a billion dollars or so. The house of Firkins & Firkins is the Wilson Company's rival and at the head of this house is Chester Firkins. Now Robert Booth has an appointment with the prince at four-forty sharp on Friday afternoon at the Fort Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh. The complications that arise are both thrilling and humorous. Even the girl in the case gets in a bad tangle from which the hero rescues her. He also saves the prince from being blown up and wins the contract despite Firkins and his "devilish ways."

FOR NEST OF GERMAN SPIES
A few days after Dustin Farnum began work in his newest William Fox photoplay, "The Spy," a stranger burst excitedly into police headquarters in Los Angeles.

"I've uncovered a nest of German spies," he said, between gasps for breath.

The sergeant at the desk reached hastily for his pencil.

"Where is it?" he asked.

"On Western Avenue," answered the informant. "No. 1401. I know it must be a bunch of spies, because they've got a picture of the kaiser, decorated with German flags on one wall; a large portrait of Hindenburg on another, and a painting of Emperor Franz Josef over the mantel. When I passed there was a large group of men inside talking in whispers."

A large squad of police were rushed to the designated place immediately.

When they got there they discovered that it was the address of the William Fox studio.

Investigation revealed that the room described was actually there and the whisperers were still at work. But they were merely taking Wilhelmstrasse series for "The Spy."

The identity of the informant has not been discovered.

U. S. HAT CORDS IDENTIFY SERVICE

A military man can immediately tell to what division a soldier belongs by glancing at the cord on his hat, but to the average citizen the color of the hat cord denotes little or nothing, declares the Pathfinder. It is an interesting feature to be familiar with, especially now when so many soldiers are seen all over the country, and anyone who takes the trouble to learn the following list will be rewarded by being able to satisfy his curiosity respecting any soldier who happens to see without having to ask questions: A cord of light blue signifies that the wearer belongs to the infantry; red denotes artillery; yellow, cavalry; buff, quartermaster's corps; red and white, engineer's corps; orange and white, signal corps; red and black ordnance; black and white, field clerk; maroon and white medical corps; black and gold, officers; silver and black, adjutant general's clerk; green, instructor home guards; and green and white, home guards.
